Description: YouthBuild Contractors is a six-month program for low-income community members interested in starting their own contraction sub-contracting business. The program is construction focused, teaching participants about entrepreneurship and providing experience in being a contractor.

Eligibility: McLean County resident; drug free; valid driver's license.

Maximum Income Guidelines: 80% of participants must be low income.

Documents Needed: Proof of income, social security card, driver's license.

Fees: No fees

Referral Procedures: Recruitment in October of each year.

Self Help Housing
Sweat Equity Programs

Description: Self Help Housing is a home construction program in which the borrower actually helps in the building process. A group of eligible participants work together to build their homes under the direction of qualified instructors. The program is designed to help lower the overall mortgage and monthly payments through sweat-equity and a borrower-friendly mortgage through the USDA mortgage loan program.

Eligibility: Willing to place substantial work in to their home. Qualify for a USDA Rural Development mortgage loan.

Maximum Income Guideline: 80% or less of AMI.

Fees: No fee

Referral Procedures: Call for appointment

2008 Poverty Level Guidelines

Who Qualifies?

This is not an easy question. Every program has its own guidelines. Some look at how much money a household had in the past 90 days, some look at the amount of income in the last 30 days, some give credit for how much is paid on other household bills such as utilities, and some consider your gross income only.

Having said all that, this is a table to give people an idea of whether it is worth their while to apply for assistance. The figures are based on poverty level, which is set by the federal government and changes annually.

Here is an example. The poverty level for one person is \$10,400 per year. If the program allows people to make 150% of poverty level, they can earn \$15,588 and qualify ($866 \times 12 \times 1.5$).

30 Day Income

Family Size	100%	125%	150%	185%	200%
1	866	1082	1299	1602	1732
2	1166	1457	1749	2157	2332
3	1466	1832	2199	2712	2932
4	1766	2207	2649	3267	3532
5	2066	2582	3099	3822	4132
6	2366	2957	3549	4377	4732
7	2666	3332	3999	4932	5332
8	2966	3707	4449	5487	5932

For each additional person, add $300.

The poverty guidelines are updated by the Department of Health and Human Services in February or March of each year. The numbers reflect poverty guidelines for the 48 contiguous states and Washington DC (Alaska and Hawaii are different).

Updated information can be obtained at <http://aspe.hhs.gov/poverty/08poverty.shtml>

Respite Care

MarcFirst

Respite Care

Description: The in-home respite program is a service designed to provide a break or “respite” for families who have a loved one with a developmental disability living in their home. Trained caregivers provide short-term relief so that families have the opportunity to leave the home knowing that their loved one is being well cared for. The objective of this program is to provide the support needed so that the child can remain in the family home as long as possible.

Health Insurance

Description: All Kids is complete health insurance for Illinois children. All Kids covers doctor visits, hospital stays, prescription drugs, vision care, dental care and eyeglasses. All Kids covers regular check-ups and immunization shots. All Kids also covers special services like medical equipment, speech therapy and physical therapy for children who need them. The All Kids Bridge provides coverage for children with pre-existing conditions who become too old for All Kids and have no access to insurance. These young adults, who suffer from cancer, diabetes, and other pre-existing conditions, will be able to continue coverage until the age of 21 at the same cost they paid for All Kids. The Moms & Babies Program covers pregnant women and their babies. Some families can choose to get help to pay for private health insurance for their children through a rebate option. The All Kids rebate is a monthly amount for families that already pay for private or employer-sponsored health care for their children.

FamilyCare covers parents living with their children 18 years old or younger. FamilyCare also covers grandparents or other relatives who are raising children in place of their parents. Like All Kids, FamilyCare covers doctor visits, dental care, specialty medical services, hospital care, emergency services, prescription drugs and more.

Eligibility: Children can get All Kids health insurance if they live in Illinois; are age 18 or younger; and they meet the insurance requirements (that children must be uninsured for 12 months to get All Kids).

Maximum Income Guideline: There are no income limits; children can qualify for All Kids no matter how much money their parents earn. FamilyCare has recently been expanded to include parents with an annual income of up to 400% of the Federal Poverty Level (equal to an annual income of $82,500 for a family of four). For more detailed information about FamilyCare costs, see the web site or call to request the "Income Standards and Cost Sharing Chart."

Additional Information: How do parents find doctors that accept All Kids? Illinois Health Connect is a new program that works with All Kids to manage enrollees' healthcare by helping them pick a doctor or clinic for their medical home. Most enrollees have to pick a medical home. Illinois Health Connect or the Illinois client Enrollment Broker helps enrollees choose a medical home.

Fees: Some families get All Kids for free and some families have to pay premiums and co-payments: it depends on their income.

Referral Procedures: The easiest way to apply for All Kids is using the Internet. Parents can fill in and submit All Kids applications online or they can download and print a copy of the All Kids application form from the website, then send it in. They may also request to be sent an application in the mail, by calling the All-Kids phone line. Parents and children can apply on the same application.

Services

Description: The Autism Program is a network of services and supports for children with Autism Spectrum Disorders and their families. The Autism program's three centers and two affiliates (one is located at Illinois State University) offer unique services and supports in each region of Illinois. All of the services and supports model best practice standards for diagnosis, treatment and support for children with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ADC), based on current leading research and expert consensus.

Programs include:

Diagnostic Screening Services: Two levels of assessment are available – Level One screening and Level Two assessment. Level One screening is designed to provide an initial screen for autism spectrum disorders as well as other developmental and neurodevelopmental disorders, leading to recommendations for appropriate assessment and intervention. In Level Two, a team of clinical experts conducts a comprehensive assessment including measuring psychosocial, developmental, behavioral, language, cognitive and adaptive functioning.

New Diagnosis Family Orientation

Program: Assists parents, extended family and friends. It is the first step in the family's journey to create optimum growth, independence and joy for their child with an Autism Spectrum Disorder. The program includes three sessions, offered in a multi-family group format.

Family Focused Consultation: Focuses on increasing parent empowerment, recognizing the family as the agent of change and connecting the family with community resources and support.

“Getting Along With Others” Social Skills Group: Focuses on the development and enhancement of adaptive social skills in a peer-focused, professional-mediated format. The program offers monthly alumni club meetings after graduation from the group.

ABA Crisis Clinic: Supports families with a child who is having behavior difficulties. The clinic is intended for families who are in crisis and is lead by a behavior analyst. The clinic includes four to six sessions.

Takoda Summer Camp: Creates a comfortable and motivating environment in a week long day camp that will help each camper develop their individual abilities. The emphasis is on building self confidence, gaining independence and developing social skills in a fun setting. The camp is co-sponsored with the Autism Society of McLean County and Easter Seals.

Web Sites*Autism

Description: The Autism Program's web site has a wealth of information developed and designed to offer resources related to Autism Spectrum Disorders (ADS) in the form of research, training, special events, trips and techniques and other information intended for use and application by families affected by autism and professionals in the field.

Autism Service

706 E. Oglesby Avenue, Suite 303, Normal, IL 61761

Directions: From the corner of North Main and Willow Street (at the water tower south of University High School) turn east at the stop lights, proceed east until the stop lights at Beech Street, make a left turn and continue north for seven blocks to Oglesby Avenue

Autism Service encompasses four main areas:

- Intervention for children and their families, either clinic-based or home-based;
- Consultation with schools and families regarding individual children or specific issues related to autism;
- Workshops or in-service training designed to provide education and training to professionals, paraprofessionals, and parents who are working with individuals diagnosed with autism; and
- Evaluation of intervention effectiveness and acceptability.

A treatment team comprised of Illinois State faculty, graduate student clinicians, and undergraduate students addresses the needs of children diagnosed with autism.

Because of the Autism program Grant, there are no charges at this time. However, the standard fee for individual treatment is $25 per session and the fee for group treatment is $10; the fee for school consultation is $40 per hour. Workshops are $250-$450 per day. Insurance benefits typically do not apply at psychology graduate student training facilities. Interest in Autism Service is most welcome and appreciated. Contact Autism Service by e-mail or call (309) 438-5629 if you have any questions or a request for services.
